

ABSTRACT

Plasmid genes from Micromonospora carbonacea var. africana ATCC39149 pMLP1 have been isolated cloned, sequenced and functionally identified. These genes have been used to create vectors which integrate in a site-specific manner into the host chromosome of actinomycete species.

5

"the end"